Two Lehigh Concrete Businesses Collaborate on West Coast Project

The massive concrete structures at left, towering over the shores of Long Beach, CA, represent how two Lehigh companies that operate 1200 miles apart closed a win-win deal by working together.

Standard Concrete Products, Inc. in Southern California and Ocean Concrete, Vancouver, BC, share information regularly—but this project took more than the exchanging of names in the industry. This project took their combined efforts to offer the very best in service and communication to a well-established and highly reputable Vancouver-based Ocean customer. As a result Standard Concrete was awarded the West Ocean Towers Project. This dynamic ocean-view project has consumed more than 45,000 cubic yards of concrete over the last year and half.
